I'm envious, I love Chesapeake Bay area - I hope you guys have a great time there.

We'll see who the March 7 training session rises up as potential leaders. As a back-up is there in the pool of couples you've recently trained (even from outside of FAC) that hasn't had an opportunity to facilitate a class yet and could use the experience?

Thats great news!

We have arranged to go and visit friends in New Jersey on April 23rd. and then motor down to their vacation house on Chesapeake Bay for a week or so. Likely better to have facilitators who can do the whole course perhaps, although we are happy to help in any way we can before we leave and after we return 8th May?

Hopefully Brad's training event on the 7th March will encourage more First Alliance couples to get involved.

Hi guys,

Did Rhino & Hedgehog participate well in their acting parts last night?

I want to fill you in on our plans for the start of our next TMC class. It is on our church calendar for an April 9 start and running 7 consecutive weeks. The dinner/class format would be the same as the current session.

I know this current class is the third program in a row you've facilitated for FAC, and I don't want to presume you want/need a rest period, but I wanted to ask you whether you would be interested in facilitating this upcoming session of The Marriage Course?

Would you have time later today or early next week to chat by phone? What time of day would be most convenient for you?
